Charter

Basis of The Charter

We live at a crucial time in history. Never before have we had so many answers to the problems that have dogged our developing world.

Solutions now exist that could greatly decrease the poverty, hunger and ill health of our fellow humans and we now have technologies to reduce and repair much of the ecological damage on our planet wrought by our industrial and agricultural activities. Clean air, clean water and ecological sustainability are possible. Yet this is not being done.

World wide, conservative governments lack the political will to make the necessary adjustments that will bring an end to the conflict, pollution, poor health and social inequity that characterises our time. The Greens have evolved in this climate to show a new way forward.

A Green response to the ecological crisis proceeds on the basis of a respect for all life, human and non-human. We recognise the mutual interdependence between humanity and the rest of nature and we seek to move down an ecologically sustainable path. We seek to eradicate poverty, oppression and discrimination and to build a society that is underpinned by the values of participatory democracy, social justice, and respect for cultural and ecological diversity. We aim to transform the political, social and economic structures that oppress people and to develop a rich, participatory cultural life that enables the flourishing of a new democratic movement for progressive change.

We believe that contesting elections is a necessary step towards the building of an ecologically sustainable and socially just society, but that it is by no means the only step. We recognise and seek to facilitate grassroots movements and community initiatives that work towards ecological responsibility, social justice, affirmative action on behalf of groups who are discriminated against, First Nations' sovereign rights, peace, and international development.

We seek to avoid parochialism and to cultivate a global, ecological consciousness and long-range perspective in order to safeguard the interests of both existing and future generations and non-human species. We believe Australia should play an active role in building a more co-operative and ecologically sustainable world that is capable of addressing the glaring disparities in energy and resource consumption and quality of life between the rich and poor. We aim to extend recognition and assistance to progressive social movements in Australia and other countries and to international institutions that are working towards these ends.

Reflecting an awareness of the interrelatedness of all ecological, social and economic processes, the general principles of The Greens are:

Ecology

- to ensure that human activity respects the integrity of ecosystems and does not impair biodiversity and the ecological resilience of life-supporting systems;
- to encourage the development of a consciousness that respects the value of all life.

Democracy

- to increase opportunities for public participation in political, social and economic decision making;
- to break down inequalities of wealth and power which inhibit participatory democracy.

Social Justice

- to eradicate poverty by developing initiatives that address the causes as well as the symptoms of poverty;
- to provide affirmative action to eliminate discrimination based on gender, age, race, ethnicity, class, religion, disability, sexuality or membership of a minority group;
- to introduce measures that redress the imbalance between rich and poor.

Peace

- to adopt and promote nonviolent resolution of conflict;
- to develop an independent, non aligned foreign policy;
- to develop a self-reliant, defensive, non-nuclear defence policy;

An Ecologically Sustainable Economy

- to develop economic policies which will ensure greater resource and energy efficiency as well as development and use of environmentally sustainable technologies;
- to reduce dependence on non-renewable resources and ensure sustainable use of renewable resources;
- to adopt more comprehensive social, environmental and technology assessment practices;
- to facilitate socially and ecologically responsible investment.

Meaningful Work

- to encourage, develop and assist work that is safe, fairly paid, socially useful, personally fulfilling and not harmful to the environment;
- to encourage and facilitate more flexible work arrangements, and on-going education.

Culture

- to respect and protect ethnic, religious and racial diversity;
- to recognise the cultural requirements of First Nations peoples;
- to assist in ensuring the achievements of First Nations sovereign rights and self-determination.

Information

- to facilitate a free flow of information between citizens and all tiers of government;
- to ensure that Australians have the benefit of a locally responsible, diverse, democratically controlled, independent mass media.

Global Responsibility

- To promote equity between nations and peoples by:
 - facilitating fair trading relationships;
 - providing for increased development assistance and concerted international action to abolish unsustainable international debt;
 - providing increased green technology transfer and skills to developing countries;
 - opposing human rights abuses and political oppression;
 - ensuring that Australia plays an active role in promoting a peace and ecological sustainability.

Long-range Future Focus

- to avoid action which might risk long-term or irreversible damage to the environment;
- to safeguard the planet's ecological resources on behalf of future generations

- 1.2 All other by-laws, rules, procedures and processes of The Greens are subject to this Constitution, with the exception of The Charter of The Greens.

2. Member Bodies and Constituent Groups

- 2.1 The Greens is a national confederation of Member Bodies. The composition of each Member Body's Constituent Groups is defined by the constitution of that Member Body. To facilitate smooth operations between the National Organisation and Member Bodies, all Member Body constitutions must remain compatible with this Constitution.
- 2.2 To ensure that this compatibility is achieved, a constitutional review panel will be elected. This panel will comprise one delegate from each Member Body. The panel will evaluate constitutional proposals and make recommendations to National Council and to the relevant Member Bodies.
- 2.3 Subject to 3.2, where a Member Body or constituent group's constitution is incompatible with this Constitution, to the extent of their inconsistency, this Constitution will prevail.

3. Relationships between Groups

- 3.1 The Greens will operate as a national organisation as a confederation of Member Bodies comprised of their Constituent Groups.
- 3.2 Member Bodies have the autonomy to make decisions relating to their own affairs according to their own constitutions provided that:
 - a) these decisions remain compatible with the Charter and the agreed policies of The Greens;
 - b) they take into consideration national and Member Body campaign priorities and election strategies.
- 3.3 Notwithstanding the provisions of 3.2, if a Member Body or one of its Constituent Groups promotes a policy that differs substantially from the national policies of The Greens, this difference must be made clear in any public statement.

4. The Charter of The Greens

- 4.1 The Charter is the document of agreement which defines the basic principles and aims of The Greens. As such, Individual Members and Constituent Groups of The Greens may not publicly forward ideas at variance with the Charter without calling into question their continued membership of The Greens.
- 4.2 To change the Charter an amendment must either be decided by the consensus of National Conference or be passed by National Ballot.
 - a) For the result of the ballot to be valid, ballots must be received from an absolute majority of Individual Members.
 - b) For the ballot to be passed it requires the support of at least three-quarters of the formal votes cast.

5. Objectives

The Greens' objectives are:

- 5.1 to foster a vision of the world characterised by the Four Pillars of the Greens, being:
 - a) peace and nonviolence,
 - b) social justice,

- 5.4 to encourage other political parties to adopt our policies and principles by electoral strategies and direction of voting preferences;
- 5.5 to promote and assist other associations and organisations (whether incorporated or not) and persons in working for the objectives of The Greens;
- 5.6 to promote the development of and participate and communicate with the Green political movement, both nationally and globally;

13. Delegates to National Conference

- 13.1 Delegates to National Conference will be in accordance with the following formula:
- a) Normally each Member Body will have one delegate for every 1% of the National Individual Membership, subject to each Member Body having a minimum of four delegates and a maximum of ten delegates to National Conferences.
 - b) If a Member Body has less than twenty Members, it will only be entitled to one delegate.
 - c) The Party Room will be entitled to send up to three of their members as delegates.
 - d) Each group of State elected representatives will be entitled to send one delegate who is a Member of that State's Parliament.
 - e) From each State, elected local government representatives will be entitled to send one delegate.
 - f) Unless they are delegates, National Office Bearers are not entitled to vote. They will have speaking rights and they are entitled to block consensus.

14. National Council

- 14.1 National Council is, subject to any decision of National Conference, responsible for the management of the affairs of The Greens at a national level between meetings of National Conference.
- 14.2 National Council will comprise:
- a) The National Convenor, the National Secretary and the National Treasurer, who shall each have one vote ("National Office Bearers");
 - b) One member of each of the Member Bodies, plus an additional member from Member Bodies with more than 20% of the national membership ("National Councillors"), whose votes are determined by 14.3. A casual vacancy may be filled by decision of the relevant Member Body. It is expected that the National Councillors be appointed to terms of least one year. A Member Body may nominate an alternate councillor, if their councillor is unable to attend a meeting. This matter may be further regulated in the by-laws;
 - c) Two Australian Greens Members of different genders who identify as First Nations people and have been elected by Australian Greens Members who identify as First Nations people. These two representatives will share one vote. A casual vacancy may be filled by decision of the First Nations Network. This matter may be further regulated in the Terms of Reference of the First Nations Network;
 - d) Two members appointed by and from the Party Room, who shall each have one vote (the "Party Room Representatives"). A casual vacancy may be filled by decision of Party Room. Party room may nominate alternates, only one of whom may not be a member of the Party Room and that person may not exercise a vote;
 - e) Any members appointed by a consensus of National Conference, not exceeding two ("General Members"), who will not exercise any vote.
- 14.3 The number of votes which are exercised by the National Councillors shall be twenty and the number of votes exercised by each of the National Councillors shall be determined in accordance with this clause.

The number of votes to be exercised by each Member Body shall be a whole number. In the case of a Member Body entitled to only one National Councillor, the number of votes exercised by that National Councillor shall be the number allocated to the Member Body under this clause. In the case of a Member Body entitled to two National Councillors, the votes to which the Member Body is entitled under this clause shall be divided evenly, provided that where that number of votes is an odd number, the last remaining vote shall be allocated to one of the National Councillors, as advised by the Secretary of the relevant Member Body.

In respect of each of the Member Bodies, a number shall first be calculated as follows: (A + B) divided by 2, multiplied by 20.

Where A is that proportion of one constituted by dividing the membership of that Member Body by the total national party Individual Membership; and B is that proportion of one constituted by dividing the number of National Conference delegates to which that Member Body is entitled by the number of National Conference delegates to which all Member Bodies are entitled (in both cases excluding any member entitlement arising from state parliamentary or local government representatives).

When this calculation is complete, then any Member Body for which the number calculated is less than one shall then be allocated one vote, and despite what follows, shall not be allocated further votes; and any Member Body for which the number calculated is more than 5 will be allocated 5 votes and despite what follows, shall not be allocated further votes.

Each other Member Body shall then be allocated a number of votes equal to the highest whole number which is less than the number calculated in respect of that Member Body.

If twenty votes have not been allocated at this stage, any remaining votes shall then be allocated, with the first vote being allocated to that Member Body which has the highest remaining fraction (calculated by subtracting the number of votes already allocated to each Member Body from the number calculated above in respect of that body). The second vote (if any) remaining shall be allocated to the Member Body with the second highest remaining fraction, and so on until all twenty votes have been allocated.

The allocation of votes, and a determination as to whether a Member Body is entitled to one or two National Councillors, shall be done each year in advance of the Annual National Conference. The relevant membership numbers and the delegate entitlements to that upcoming Annual National Conference shall be used for the purposes of the allocation. The allocations made shall apply, and remain unchanged, for the whole of the period between that upcoming Annual National Conference and the subsequent Annual National Conference.

The relevant membership numbers is the members counted for each Member Body taken as the highest number of financial members between 1 June and 30 September each year and reported by the respective Member Body to the National Secretary.

- 14.4 Decisions of National Council shall be made in accordance with 27, except:
- a) If a substantive (as opposed to procedural) proposal which does not have consensus is not so urgent that a decision cannot be deferred to the next meeting or a special meeting, that matter is to be deferred; and
 - b) Whenever a vote is to be taken, 14.5 will apply.
- 14.5 At National Council, a decision to go to a vote, and a vote on a substantive (rather than merely procedural) matter shall require a "two-thirds vote" to be carried in accordance with this clause. For the purposes of this clause, a two-thirds vote shall mean that both of the following conditions have been met:
- a) At least two thirds of the votes cast (excluding abstentions) have been cast in favour; and
 - b) At least one vote of a National Councillor or Party Room Representative (as the case may be) has been cast in favour from each of two-thirds of those relevant groups in respect of which a National Councillor or Party Room Representative cast a vote. For the purpose of this clause, "relevant groups" means the Member Bodies and the Party Room.
 - c) For the purposes of 14.5(b) the First Nations vote is to be counted among the relevant groups.
- 14.6 As far as is practicable:
- a) One office bearer of any Member Body (or if the Convenor of that Body decides, a State parliamentary representative) shall have the right to attend and speak during any part of a National Council meeting which is discussing either a proposal put to National Council by that Member Body or a disputed matter or proposal which specifically or exclusively affects the interests or affairs of that Body, rather than Member Bodies generally;

- b) A member of the Party Room with specific portfolio responsibility for a matter which is to be discussed by National Council shall have the right to attend and speak during any part of the meeting which is discussing matters with primary and significant relevance to that portfolio area;
 - c) Except where decided by National Council in a particular case, the most senior employee of the Australian Greens responsible for the administration of the Party's affairs shall have a right to attend and speak; and
 - d) The Convenor of the body responsible for policy coordination shall have the right to attend and speak.
- 14.7 National Council may decide to hold any part of a meeting in closed session and must record its reasons for doing so.
- 14.8 National Council shall normally meet monthly and no less than ten times in each year either by available communication technology or in person. Of these monthly meetings at least four must be held in person. At least 21 days notice must be given of a National Council meeting.
- 14.9 An extraordinary meeting of National Council may be called by:
- a) the National Convenor; or
 - b) the Federal Parliamentary Leader; or
 - c) the Convenor of a Member Body and at least one Member of National Council;
 - d) or any three Members of National Council.

Except in exceptional circumstances, at least 24 hours notice must be given for an extraordinary meeting and a reasonable attempt must be made by the National Secretary and National Convenor to contact all members.

- 14.10 A quorum for a National Council meeting will consist of a majority of the members of National Council, and must include two National Office Bearers (or their deputies in substitution), one Party Room Representative, and National Councillors from not less than 5 Member Bodies, and at least a majority of the votes exercisable. Alternate members count for the purposes of quorum. If the National Office Bearers or Party Room fail to attend two consecutive meetings, the subsequent meeting could proceed if the remaining requirements for quorum are met.
- 14.11 The National Secretary will keep minutes of National Council's decisions. A copy of all decisions of National Council will be forwarded within 28 days to each Member Body Secretary and to delegates to National Conference.
- 14.12 The powers and functions of National Council are:
- a) to implement decisions of National Conference;
 - b) to establish Working Groups;
 - c) to make national election campaign strategies and to establish any committees to implement them;
 - d) to employ such persons under such conditions as National Council may from time to time determine;
 - e) to authorise particular Members to sign cheques or operate accounts with financial institutions on behalf of The Greens;
 - f) to raise funds and incur debts in the name of The Greens;
 - g) to authorise Individual Members to raise funds and incur debts in the name of The Greens to a specified limit;
 - h) to administer the Party's affairs including adherence to any legal obligations of an administrative nature;
 - i) to support and facilitate good communication and a good working relationship within the Party and between the Party and the Party Room; and
 - j) to facilitate strategic and political discussions.

18. Registered Officers of The Greens

18.1 Every 4 years, National Conference will elect a Registered Officer for The Greens' parent registration, as required by the Australian Electoral Commission.

18.2 Each Member Body may elect one or more of its members, according to its own constitution, who shall be appointed by the Registered Officer to serve as Deputy Registered Officers of the parent registration for that Member Body.

18.3 Each Member Body will have the power to determine the pre-selection of candidates from that State to be nominated to stand in a Federal election.
