Disputes Panel

2. There shall be 9 positions on the Disputes Panel, which will be filled by election at the Annual State Conference after the State Council representative's election and the election of AGV members to the State Executive. All Greens party members may nominate for the positions on the Disputes Panel, but only State Councillors may vote. Following the election the candidates shall be ranked in order and shall fill the positions on the Disputes Panel in that order, subject to the following restrictions:
 - a) No more than three of the nine positions may be filled by Greens party members who are not and have never been members of State Council.
 - b) If five of the positions are filled by members of the same gender, no further positions shall be filled by members of that gender unless all eligible candidates of the other gender have been elected.
 - c) No member of State Executive shall be on the Disputes Panel.
3. A vacant position on the Disputes Panel may be filled by State Council appointing a person to the Panel.
4. The Disputes Panel shall make decisions with a quorum of 5, or the number of members which is greater than 50% of members appointed to the Disputes Panel at any point in time. All decisions of the Panel must be minuted.
5. A Notice of Dispute given pursuant to clause 81.2 shall be in writing and shall be in the form of, or shall contain the information in, Schedule A to these by-laws.
6. The Disputes Panel shall send the Notice of Dispute to each party to an enquiry process, and shall invite the respondents to give a summary (which should not exceed 500 words) stating that party's position in the dispute.

Review

7. Review of a decision of the Disputes Panel under clause 84.2 shall be heard de novo as if it were a new matter, and the Disputes Panel must act promptly to determine the appeal without undue delay.
8. The Disputes Panel may stay the effect of any decision, pending the outcome of the review.
9. If the review panel members are unable to reach consensus, they may determine the outcome of the matter by majority decision.

Other matters

10. If a decision is made at a conciliation or arbitration in resolution of a dispute, the conciliator or arbitrator must give to each of the parties and the Disputes Panel a copy of the decision in writing.
11. If a dispute is resolved by agreement between the parties at a mediation or a conciliation, the mediator or conciliator must give to each party a copy of any agreement entered into by the parties in resolution of any aspect of the dispute, unless otherwise agreed between the parties, and must advise the Disputes Panel whether the dispute has been resolved.
12. Every person involved in a dispute resolution process may seek further information from the Disputes Panel as to the detail of the Panel's processes and guiding principles.
13. Any party affected by a Disputes Panel decision (other than a mediation) may request a written report giving reasons for the decision, and outlining the process followed and factors taken into consideration in making the decision, such reasons being provided within 21 days.
14. The Disputes Panel may make decisions at formal meetings, or through electronic communication.
15. The Disputes Panel shall deliver an annual report to State Conference, and may report to State Council at any time on the results of its work and any recommendations arising.
16. Every party to a grievance procedure will be given a feedback form which may be sent to the Disputes Panel for consideration.

By-law 1 – Appendix A - Dispute Panel Procedural Guidelines

Dispute Panel Procedural Guidelines

These Guidelines are prepared to inform potential or actual grievants of the process followed by the Disputes Panel (the Panel) after it receives a Notice of Dispute¹ from a grievant. What follows is a plain English version of constitutional Panel procedures – however, readers should refer to the footnoted constitutional references for the exact wording. The Attachment to these Guidelines provides further information on key concepts in dispute resolution.

Preliminary Steps

After receiving a Notice of Dispute, the first step undertaken by the Panel is to determine that there has been an attempt to resolve the matter directly with the person or AGV body concerned, or other Party help has been sought to help in resolving the matter². Unless this has occurred, the Panel will not normally accept the Notice of Dispute.

The second preliminary step is to ensure the Notice of Dispute uses the proforma attached to the Dispute Resolution bylaw, or otherwise includes all the information necessary³.

In special circumstances the Disputes Panel can accept a Notice of Dispute where these two preliminary steps have not been followed⁴. However, the grievant would have to include as part of the notification reasons as to why the Panel should exercise its discretion in this way.

Dispute Resolution Procedure

If the above preliminary steps are taken to the satisfaction of the Panel, the Notice of Dispute must be accepted, and the Panel must set up an enquiry process to determine its next step/s⁵.

After undertaking a preliminary assessment which may involve obtaining further information from the grievant, various options are available to the Panel. It may choose NOT to accept the Notice of Dispute⁶, if the dispute:

- (a) relates primarily to political or policy differences, or other issues better dealt with by another Party body; or
- (b) is insufficiently serious, or is vexatious.

In addition, the Panel may choose to dismiss the matter.⁷

No specific grounds for decisions under (a) or (b) above are outlined in the Constitution or the bylaw, but the Constitution, giving effect to natural justice principles, says the grievant has an entitlement to make a case as to why the matter should not be dismissed⁸. The Panel applies the same concept in making a decision about whether or not to accept a Notice of Dispute. Once these natural justice requirements are satisfied, the Panel is free to determine those factors or issues which it will take into account in determining the matter.

Normally, the Panel will establish an enquiry process⁹, which will do one or more of the following:

- (a) Investigate the matter (or part of the matter – this is a judgement call of the Panel, which may choose to investigate only the most important aspects of the grievance);
- (b) Refer the matter to mediation, conciliation or arbitration;

³ Constitution clause 82.2

⁴ Constitution clause 82.3

⁵ Constitution clause 82.5

⁶ Constitution clause 82.4

⁷ Constitution clause 82.5(d)

⁸ Constitution clause 83.5

⁹ Constitution clause 82.5

- (c) Conduct an Inquiry into any or all matters raised in or by the dispute.

The Panel's objective¹⁰, having established the enquiry, is to:

- (a) assist with the resolution of disputes and grievances arising between AGV Members;
- (b) assist with the resolution of disputes and grievances involving the actions of the AGV, a constituent group, or other body of the AGV; and
- (c) investigate and report on allegations of misconduct or breach of the Constitution or the bylaws.

It is clear the Panel has two primary roles – to assist in resolving disputes; and separately, to investigate and report on alleged breaches of the Constitution and bylaws, including where there are allegations of misconduct. Misconduct is not defined, and seemingly includes behaviour or action that is not specifically against the constitution or bylaws.

The Panel has the power to invite any Greens member or Party body to be made a party to the dispute¹¹. This could occur, for example, if an additional respondent is identified. Such a party, from that point on, has an entitlement to all procedural and natural justice entitlements that accrue to the other parties to the dispute. In addition, the Panel may allow any member or Party body to be represented at any hearing or other process of the enquiry¹².

Any person appointed by the Panel to handle a dispute must disclose any conflict of interest they have, or could be perceived to have, to the parties. If a party is unhappy with the delegate's response to the party's concern, this can be raised with the delegate, who should refer the matter to the Panel for its decision¹³.

Once the Panel has established an enquiry process, and delegated its powers to one or more Panel members or other delegate/s¹⁴, the delegate/s have authority to:

- determine their own process for the enquiry, including whether to sub-delegate aspects of the enquiry to a single member¹⁵;
- determine which enquiry procedure (other than an Inquiry) it will utilise, when it will be employed, and how it will attempt to resolve the matter; and
- take any opportunity which presents itself which may facilitate the resolution of the matter by any alternate dispute resolution process¹⁶; and have a responsibility to¹⁷:

- make a decision or conclude the matter in a way which resolves the dispute with as much finality as is reasonably possible in all the circumstances of the matter.

Importantly, in attempting to resolve any matter before it, the Panel and its delegates are required to take into account a range of factors which may appear to the parties to be somewhat broader than the range of the dispute narrowly defined¹⁸. These factors include:

- (a) the presumption that Members of the Party are entitled to contribute to the Party through its various offices and functions;
- (b) the importance of upholding the good reputation of the Party;
- (c) the interests of Members who are not party to the dispute;

¹⁴ Constitution clause 82.6

¹⁵ Constitution clause 82.3

¹⁶ Constitution clause 83.3

- (d) the need to redress behaviour that is detrimental to the well-being of the Party or any of its Members;
- (e) the need for every AGV Member and body to understand and abide by the Greens Charter, Constitution and bylaws; and
- (g) all matters put by the parties.

Although rarely given effect to, the Panel has the power to issue orders to any party to do, or cease to do, any action which it believes will facilitate the Panel meeting its objectives, where such an order is reasonable and appropriate in all the circumstances¹⁹. Any failure to comply with such an order would be grounds for raising the failure as a matter for consideration under the suspension, censure and expulsion provisions of section 12 of the Constitution²⁰.

Review of Panel Decision/s

Any party to a dispute resolution process has a right to seek review of any outcome arising from a decision of a Panel delegate²¹. This would appear to cover decisions made during the operation of an enquiry, as well as final decisions. The Panel will appoint a 3 person review panel to enquire into, and determine the matter²² – the review panel has all the normal powers and responsibilities of the Panel or its delegates²³ (including the right to not accept or to dismiss the matter²⁴, as it has the minimum three Panel members required for such a decision).

Other Matters

All matters raised in, or arising from, a Notice of Dispute, are private and privileged information between the parties²⁵. Read strictly, NOTHING in or arising from the matter should be discussed outside of the parties themselves – not other branch members, other interested non-parties etc. Even a statement that a dispute has been lodged against another person is probably inappropriate – given the fact that the detail and justification for lodging the dispute cannot be debated without being in risk of breaching the constitution. Disclosing the existence of a dispute involving an identified member is also unfair to that member, who has no right of reply in private conversation between you and other people.

In short, a party to a dispute should not say anything to anyone about the matter. If other people raise it with you, you should merely fail to confirm or deny that there is a Notice of Dispute afoot before the Disputes Panel.

If a party to a dispute feels dissatisfied with the conduct of any delegate of the Panel²⁶, please raise the matter with the convenor (email disputespanel@lists.vic.greens.org.au). Even if the delegate is a Panel member, the convenor may be able to satisfactorily address the matter for you. However, if the grievance is against one or more Panel members, you are entitled to raise your concern directly with the State Executive (email exec@lists.vic.greens.org.au).

Attachment: Key Concepts behind the Disputes Resolution Process

1. Consensus

The Greens' primary mode of making decisions is by consensus. The Greens' principles of consensus aim to move away from adversarialism towards inclusiveness, cooperation and mutual respect. By acknowledging conflict when it occurs, discussing its causes and negotiating solutions, the best outcome can be achieved for all members. This helps build a healthier Greens Party.

The primary aim of our dispute resolution process is also to reach agreement where that is possible. This is best achieved through mediation. Outcomes achieved through agreement remove the possibility of a person having an undesirable outcome imposed on them. It is more likely to lead to a quicker and more satisfying resolution for all concerned.

2. Kinds of Disputes, and the most appropriate Enquiry Process

Below is a set of non-exhaustive categories of dispute. These are not mutually exclusive, i.e. a number of them can co-exist in any single dispute. However the distinctions act as a useful guide for the Panel in determining the best course of action for addressing disputes.

2.1 Behavioural or Interpersonal Disputes

Some disputes are confined to relationships between individuals, involving, for example, misunderstandings, clashes in personality styles, or where people feel that there has been a lack of respect. Such disputes may respond well to mediation. However they may be beyond the responsibility, scope and resources of the Party, since not every personal difference can be resolved.

2.2 Organisational or Rules Disputes

Disputes and grievances may involve the actions of constituent groups within the Party, such as State Council, Executive, branches, regional councils, standing committees, etc. These may involve the conduct of a body which has either not followed proper process or acted beyond its power, or it may be confined to the actions of a few individuals acting beyond the authority of their positions in the body. Sometimes these may be indicative of deficiencies in the structure or rules of the Party (the AGV constitution or the by-laws) which need to be remedied.

Disputes involving alleged breaches of the rules can sometimes be resolved through mediation. Mediation however will probably not be the best approach in such cases, since the dispute is really between the member and a Party body about application of the rules. In these disputes it may be preferable to have a ruling made in arbitration regarding the obligation to comply with the rules – or, alternatively, an investigation and report, or even the establishment of an Inquiry, may be called for.

2.3 Political Disputes

Some disputes may be primarily of a political nature where parties may have different goals, or undisclosed political agendas. These may not be amenable to a mediated solution although mediation may help. Disputes over political behaviours may be best handled by a conciliator or arbitrator who has a good understanding of the political issues involved.

However, disputes arising from differences in political opinion are not grievances which fall within this grievance procedure. Diversity in political opinion is an asset and a feature of a political party. It is not something which can or should be remedied by a grievance procedure. The manner in which people express their differences of opinion may, however, be the subject of a grievance procedure.

3. Remedies

Disputes resolution often involves the seeking of a remedy. The remedy must be whatever the Panel's delegate believes is most likely to resolve the matter²⁷. Outcomes of a dispute resolution process could include: clarification of misunderstandings, an apology or public recognition of an injustice, an undertaking by a party to modify his or her behaviour, a reprimand or warning, or a move for censure, suspension or expulsion by State Council.

4. Definitions

These guidelines, the constitution and the by-laws use terms which are presumed to have the following practical meanings:

4.1 Mediation

Mediation is a process by which participants, together with the assistance of a neutral person or persons, arrive at an agreed resolution. It usually involves systematically isolating disputed issues in order to develop options, consider alternatives, and reach a consensual settlement that will accommodate each party's needs. Although methods used by individual mediators can be very varied, one thing in common is that a mediator never decides the outcome of a dispute. A mediator's role is to facilitate the parties reaching a mutually satisfactory outcome. A mediator does not decide the outcome, or make decisions.

Mediation is voluntary. Parties attend mediation by agreement between themselves. Although it is not recommended, each party is free to refuse to participate in mediation. Mediation assumes that people are most likely to comply with agreements that they have developed and agreed to themselves.

Most matters involving disputes between two individuals are suitable for mediation. Matters that involve a group of people or a Greens body (such as a branch or committee) may be less likely to be suitable for mediation, but if all parties that need to be present agree to mediation it can be very effectively employed.

Mediation is confidential. Everything that is said or done at a mediation is not to be repeated outside the mediation process, even in a court, unless by agreement between the parties. Where a mediation is resolved it is usual for the parties to put that agreement in writing so that there is a clear record of what each person's future obligations are. The principle of confidentiality extends to an agreement entered into in resolution of the mediation, unless the parties agree otherwise in writing.

If a person breaches an agreement he or she entered into at mediation, the breach of the agreement may itself be referred to the Disputes Panel, who may choose to refer the matter for consideration under the section 12 Censure, Suspension and Expulsion powers.

4.2 Conciliation

Conciliation is a consensual, non-adversarial process. The conciliator plays a more active role in bringing the parties together, lowering tensions, improving communications, interpreting issues, encouraging a spirit of goodwill between the parties, providing technical assistance, exploring potential solutions and bringing about a negotiated settlement. The conciliator is entitled (unlike a mediator) to bring their own personal experience and judgement to bear in helping the parties to reach a resolution – they are not just a facilitator of a fair process (the primary responsibility of a mediator).

The conciliator may meet and discuss matters with the parties both independently and jointly and may indicate to the parties the strengths and weaknesses of their position and may suggest solutions. The conciliator may make proposals as to a settlement. The conciliator may give an opinion on the likely outcome if the matter were to proceed to arbitration. These functions are performed with the agreement of the parties. Further, if the parties agree, the conciliator can make a decision that resolves the dispute without any conciliated outcome.

The confidentiality arrangements for mediations spelled out above hold equally for conciliations.

²⁷ Constitution clause 83.6

4.3 Arbitration

A dispute that primarily involves the interpretation of rules or laws is usually more appropriate for arbitration than mediation or conciliation.

Arbitration is an adversarial process in which an independent person hears submissions from each party to the dispute and then makes a decision which is binding upon them. Arbitrations are conducted pursuant to an agreement, in this case the agreement is the Greens member's agreement to abide by the Greens Constitution. Like all other Panel processes, an arbitration takes place in private.

Arbitration is different to mediation because:

If a person chooses not to participate in arbitration, it can nonetheless proceed in that person's absence and a binding decision can be made.

Consensus is not required. After hearing matters put by the parties, the arbitrator makes a decision which resolves the dispute with as much finality as is reasonably possible in all the circumstances of the matter²⁸.

Compared with a mediator, or even a conciliator, an arbitrator may require a higher working knowledge of the Greens Party structures and processes, its constitution, as well as an understanding of the wider political context in which the disputes arise.

Arbitrations may be appropriate if mediation and conciliation have failed, or if the matter is not suitable for mediation or conciliation, or if the matter is not one for which a negotiated solution is possible, e.g. a dispute as to whether or not a ballot has been validly held. An arbitrator should always be open to and encourage alternative consensual methods of resolving the dispute.

Mediators, conciliators and arbitrators are expected to be neutral. Although persons appointed to mediate, conciliate, or arbitrate any dispute may have previously come into contact with the parties to the dispute by virtue of also being members of the Greens, one of the Disputes Panel's roles is to ensure that they are sufficiently independent of the relationships involved in the dispute to ensure confidence in them by all parties to the dispute. Parties are entitled to query any mediator, conciliator or arbitrator if they believe there is, or may be, a conflict of interest²⁹.

4.4 Investigation

The Disputes Panel may decide to investigate a matter. An example of an investigation would be an allegation that a member had wrongly claimed reimbursement of expenses. An investigation by the Disputes Panel, and subsequent report to State Executive, would be more appropriate than a mediation or arbitration.

4.5 Inquiry

After receiving a Notice of Dispute, or during the enquiry established to handle it, the Panel or its delegate/s may become aware of issues which, being tangential to the main thrust of the primary matter, warrant separate examination. The Panel is empowered to establish a separate Inquiry to pursue these issues. The parties to the initial Notification of Dispute may, but need not, be made parties to the Inquiry. In such an Inquiry, the Panel or its delegated review panel of three Panel members has all the normal powers and responsibilities granted to the Disputes Panel under the Constitution.

5. Other Process Matters

5.1 Initial assessment by Disputes Panel

The information contained in the Notice of Dispute enables the Disputes Panel to decide what type of dispute it is and what type of process could be used to resolve it. Broadly speaking, disputes between individuals are more likely to be suitable for mediation while disputes involving party processes are more likely to require arbitration, investigation or an Inquiry. The Disputes Panel would normally avoid referring a matter to arbitration unless it believes mediation or conciliation will not satisfactorily resolve the issue.

²⁸ Constitution clause 83.6

²⁹ Constitution clause 83.1

5.2 Refusing to accept, or dismissing complaints

The Disputes Panel has the power to refuse to accept, or dismiss a complaint. There will be disputes between members which don't come within the ambit of the grievance procedure. For example, a dispute between members involving a person's private life which is unconnected with party business would not be a matter which the party has any responsibility to resolve. Disputes involving employees may require referral to outside bodies such as Unions or lawyers, while allegations of corruption or fraud may need to be referred to the police. There might also be disputes that arise within the party which are so minor, or are made vexatiously, that activating the grievance procedure would cause more disruption to the party and its members than would leaving the matter alone: e.g. a claim that a member failed to assist with organising an event or failed to write a policy after promising to do so. The goal after all, is to make life better for members, not more arduous.

5.3 Receiving information or evidence

In arbitrations and investigations, the Dispute Panel members can inform themselves of matters in any way that they believe is appropriate. It is worth noting that there are many different ways of obtaining information and each method has a corresponding degree of weight that attaches to the information. For example, information obtained from an eye witness's account of an incident will normally be given far more weight than a report of the same incident found somewhere on the Internet. When considering whether to accept evidence, particularly contradicting evidence, Panel members will normally take into account the reliability or relevance of the information and whether or not it is hearsay and give it appropriate weight accordingly. Dispute Panel members may choose not to accept information that they feel is not reliable or believable.

2 Expenditure Administration

Modification History

Action	Body	Date
Approved	State Council	2014-02-01

1. All expenditure approvals must be allocated to an item in the current approved AGV budget.
2. Once the AGV budget is approved, any AGV members who are solely or jointly responsible for expenditure decisions are responsible for only approving expenditure within the approved budget, unless they gain approval from FAIC for a budget adjustment to accommodate the increased spend.
3. The State Director is responsible for authorising expenditure within the AGV budget, subject to the following conditions:
 - a) The State Council has approved that a committee or working group is accountable for a specific budget item, in which case responsibility passes to that committee or working group.
 - b) The State Director has delegated expenditure authorisation for specific budget items to AGV staff. In such an event, the State Director still retains accountability for the budget item against which the authority has been delegated.
 - c) Where expenditure will result in the relevant budget item being exceeded by no more than $5,000, the State Director must nominate an alternate budget item or items to be reduced by the same value.
 - d) An expenditure increase of more than $5,000 shall be referred to FAIC for consideration and if appropriate, funds reallocation within the approved budget.
 - e) In event that the State Director takes leave, he or she must delegate their authorities temporarily to another AGV staff member/s or State Office Bearer.
 - f) Delegation of authority shall be in writing and shall indicate the period for such delegation applies and/or when such delegation expires.
 - g) In the event that State Council or State Executive has revoked a delegate's authorities and the State Director is on a leave of absence, authorities pass to the AGV Secretary.
 - h) The AGV Secretary can temporarily assume the authorities of the State Director in the event of:
 - i) The State Director is on a leave of absence and has not delegated their authorities; or
 - j) The State Director or AGV staff member to whom authority has been delegated in the State Director's absence, is unable to make the authorisation before the payment by the time it falls due.
4. In the event that a committee or working group is allocated a budget, the convener of the committee or working group is accountable for:
 - a) Creating a detailed budget for how the funds allocated to the group or committee should be spent.
 - b) Approving spending in accordance with that budget.
 - c) Ensuring that expenditure is only made in accordance with that budget.
5. FAIC and State Executive must be notified by email or other written communication of any delegation of spending authority.
6. Any AGV member or Party body may put forward an expenditure or income proposal to FAIC for review. The proposal should include details of the expenditure (or income) including, but not limited to, the cost and benefits of accepting the proposal.
7. Following FAIC's review of the expenditure/income proposal, FAIC can do any of the following:

- a) Approve the proposal if the amount in question is less than $5000 and corresponding budget offsets can be found; or in line with the powers granted in By-law 24 - Finance, Administration and Infrastructure Committee.
 - b) recommend the proposal to State Council for approval; or
 - c) return the proposal to the proposer requesting further detail; or
 - d) choose not to recommend the proposal for approval.
8. State Council must approve expenditure outside the existing AGV budget that will alter the bottom line. By approving such proposals, State Council is acknowledging that the additional expenditure will result in a reduction in the surplus or increase in the deficit.

3 Basic Standards for Internal AGV Elections Other Than Preselections

Modification History

Action	Body	Date
Approved	State Council	2009-03-01
Amended	State Executive (following the authorisation of State Council)	2015-09-16

1. Elections (other than preselections) conducted by Branches and Regional Councils will adhere to the AGV Constitution (e.g. section 25 codifies the election of Branch office bearers).
2. The remainder of this bylaw codifies any elections (other than preselections) conducted by State Council, and the annual election process for State Office Bearers, the Victorian Campaign Committee Convenor, the Policy Convenor, and 'additional Branch Representatives' to State Council.

The State Returning Officer

3. Each Annual State Conference will include the election of the State Returning Officer by members of State Council, the position may be shared by up to 2 people.
4. The State Returning Officer's term begins at the end of the Annual State Conference at which they were elected, and ends at the end of the next year's Annual State Conference. Any casual vacancy of the State Returning Officer position will be filled by the State Council or State Executive at the first opportunity.
5. The State Returning Officer shall be responsible for conducting, or ensuring the proper conduct in accordance with the rules of, the following elections:
 - a) Elections of the State Office Bearers (section 16 of the Constitution), Victorian Campaign Committee Convenor (clause 54.1 of the Constitution) and Policy Convenor (clause 60.1 of the Constitution);
 - b) Elections of the additional Branch Representatives to State Council as described in clause 40.2 (b) of the Constitution;
 - c) Elections to positions which are to be determined by the State Conference and State Council;
 - d) Preselections which default to the State Returning Officer as described in the Preselections Bylaw;
 - e) Other elections as may be required by the Constitution.
 - f) Any election where appointed to do so by the State Council or State Executive.
6. The State Returning Officer may agree to conduct other elections at the request of State Conference or a constituent group.
7. The State Returning Officer shall not be eligible to:
 - a) Stand for election in any election which they will conduct. (Note: where there are two Returning Officers, one may stand for election in an election conducted by the other. Where there is only one Returning Officer, and they stand for election, or where both Returning Officers stand for election in a single election, a deputy returning officer approved by the State Secretary or State Convenor must be appointed pursuant to clause 8 below to conduct that election.)

- b) Nominate any person for any election they conduct;
 - c) Sit on the Probity Panel associated with any election they conduct.
8. The State Returning Officer will be the primary contact between nominees, candidates, and other Greens members making enquiries, with respect to the conduct of any election they conduct.
 9. The State Returning Officer may appoint up to 3 people at any time to act as deputy returning officers to assist in the duties of the State Returning Officer. Final authority and responsibility remains with the State Returning Officer, except in the circumstances described in 7 (a) above, in which case the deputy returning officer will have final authority for that election.
 10. The State Returning Officer will ensure that where the implementation of any election requires the use of AGV office resources, measures are taken to ensure that the most senior member of AGV staff is consulted, and that preselection materials (such as reply paid envelopes) are distinguished from those of any other election that may be occurring at the same time.

Ballots

11. Except where otherwise determined by the Constitution and bylaws, or a decision of the State Council or Executive, elections described in clause 5 will be conducted by secret ballot using paper or electronic voting.

1. The Australian Greens - Victoria (AGV), as a party committed to enhancing Australia's democratic process, will pursue the model of publicly funded elections at all levels of government. Publicly funded elections would promote more equitable access and reduce the risk of corruption associated with donations.
2. AGV will accept donations, including gifts-in-kind as defined by the Australian Electoral Commission, using transparent practices.
3. Gifts in-kind will be treated as any other donation to the AGV (for further details please see the Treasurer's Handbook).

5. AGV will ensure that where any donor's one-off or cumulative donations to AGV totals $1,000 or more within a financial year their donations are subject to ethical review.
6. Any party member may request that the AGV conduct an ethical review of any donation.
7. At times AGV may also seek to finance its expenditure through loans that are not provided by financial institutions. These loans will be subject to ethical review where either:
 - a) the value of the loan is $10,000 or more; or
 - b) the loan agreement has conditions under which the loan could convert into a donation and the value of the loan is $1,000 or more.
8. Ethical review of donations and non-commercial loans will be undertaken by AGV State Council (or State Executive or State Quick Decision Making Group depending on amount and urgency) and will:
 - a) seek to ensure that the values and aspirations of all donors and lenders are not inconsistent with those encapsulated in the goals, policies and the Charter of the Australian Greens Victoria;

 - d) ensure that any donations or loans received that are subsequently rejected as a result of this bylaw are returned to the donor or lender at the earliest opportunity;

 - f) advise potential and/or intending donors of disclosure requirements of laws referred to in 8(e) above.
11. The acceptance of any donation by AGV does not imply endorsement of the activities, undertakings or processes of the donor.
12. It is the responsibility of the AGV State Treasurer to monitor all donations and loans received or offered to AGV and ensure all donations and loans which are subject to review, or may be subject to rejection under this bylaw are promptly referred for review.
13. To support the application of this bylaw:

Definitions

Donations:

(from www.aec.gov.au "Funding and Disclosure Handbook for Donors and Third Parties")

A disposition of property or provision of a service for which no payment, or an inadequate payment, is received. The term includes cash and non-cash (gift-in-kind) transactions, but does not include commercial transactions or volunteer labour.

(NB. This is a summary and the full AEC definition should be consulted.)

Conflict of Interest:

AGV adopts the OECD definition of conflict of interest which is:

A 'conflict of interest' involves a conflict between the public duty and the private interests of a public official, in which the public official has private interests which could improperly influence the performance of their official duties and responsibilities.

Public duty. It is the duty of members of The Greens to uphold the Greens Charter and promote our policies. It is the public duty of elected representatives and other officials of The Greens to represent their constituents impartially and act without undue influence in the community interest.

Private interests. Candidates, elected representatives and other officials of The Greens are the beneficiaries of political donations directly or to the Party and hence have a private interest in those donations. They could be, or could be reasonably perceived to be, influenced by donations (and a desire to maintain them) in the conduct of their public duties. In general larger donations have a greater potential to give rise to the perception of a conflict of interest.

Conflict. Conflict arises where decisions are actually, potentially or perceived to be made against the public interest and/or duty as a result of private interests. In addition a conflict of interest exists if the donor is likely to receive a material benefit from a reasonably foreseeable decision that could be made by the Party or an elected Green, unless such benefit is likely to occur as a result of the donor being a member of such a broad class of beneficiary that their individual benefit is not readily identifiable or known or distinguishable from other members of that class.

A conflict of interest also still exists where a donation is received from a third party or associated entity related to the individual or entity where the conflict of interest originates.

8 Mutual Responsibilities Between Elected Representatives and Party Bodies, Officers and Members

Modification History

Action	Body	Date
Approved	State Council	2009-06-21

1. All Greens public office-holders* have a responsibility under the constitution and this bylaw to report when required to relevant party bodies* and to the Greens membership generally and within their own constituencies.
2. It is expected that all public office-holders of the party will attend State Conference whenever possible, and will be available there to answer questions relevant to the office they hold from any Party member.
3. Party members may exercise their rights to hold elected representatives accountable primarily at electorate assemblies, or through the Party's collective bodies – branches, regions, working groups, committees, and State Executive and State Council.
4. Party members should not assume that, acting as individuals, they have any special or privileged access or rights in relation to elected representatives as compared to constituents generally. Similarly, elected representatives, while they have special expertise and knowledge, have no more right than other members to direct the work of Party bodies.

Reporting and Liaison Requirements

5. Elected public office-holders have a responsibility to keep the “relevant bodies”* and the “relevant office bearers”* informed. Office bearers also have a responsibility to provide reports and information to elected public officeholders.
6. The reporting arrangements need not be mechanical or prescriptive, but must ensure that:
7. In the case of public office-holders, the relevant bodies are provided with a written report or a report given in person at a meeting at least once every quarter (or, subject to leave etc., monthly in the case of full-time salaried public office holders, but not more than once to each meeting of the relevant body). This report (or taken together, a series of reports over the relevant quarter) is to indicate the main activities undertaken, key decisions made as a public office-holder, major issues which are pending and the planned approach to these issues;
 - a) relevant office-holders are advised in a timely manner of issues in which they are involved where their position is likely to involve considerable public controversy or are likely to be controversial within the Party. In these circumstances, wherever possible, a report should be provided in sufficient time to allow relevant party bodies* to consider the issue when that consideration will still be relevant;
 - b) a representative of the State MPs should attend and provide a report to each State Council, and any Federal parliamentary representatives should where possible attend, and where not, provide a report.
8. In the case of office-bearers of relevant regions or branches, relevant public office-holders are advised of the views of relevant party bodies, about matters within the current work or priorities of the public office-holders, faithfully and in good time, particularly where issues have become or are likely to become controversial within the Party.

Approved	State Executive	2010-03-11
Updated	State Council	2010-04-17

1. Any endorsed candidate for public office may be removed as a candidate under these procedures. In this bylaw, the “ERC” shall mean the Endorsement Review Committee constituted under this bylaw.
2. These procedures cease at any stage should the relevant candidate withdraw as a candidate.
3. These procedures must be initiated by a notice, which may be in writing or by telephone, from a public office-holder (including the Parliamentary Leader of the Australian Greens), or a member of State Council, to the State Convenor or Secretary or the convenor of the State-wide campaign committee, which notice need only state the name of the candidate proposed for de-selection, but may include any other relevant matter.

 - a) advise the candidate;
 - b) convene the ERC; and
 - c) advise any relevant Regional Convenor.
5. The ERC shall be convened at a time having regard to the desirability of allowing sufficient time for the candidate to respond, but also to any urgency having regard to the political circumstances, but in any case shall not be convened until at least 8 hours (excluding midnight to 6am) after a written notice has been sent to the candidate setting out the reasons why it is considered necessary that he or she might need to be disendorsed, advising the time and place of the ERC meeting (and any phone number by which its meeting may be attended). The candidate should have the opportunity to address the ERC, and every attempt shall be made to contact the candidate to ensure that the notice has been received. Copies of the notice shall be sent to the relevant Regional Convenor and, in the case of a Federal candidate, to the Parliamentary Leader of the Australian Greens. The ERC shall consist of:
 - a) the Convenor or nominee, or where the Convenor is absent or fails to nominate, the Secretary or nominee;

(This does not prevent any subsequent disciplinary proceedings against a candidate or former candidate in accordance with other relevant party procedures.);
 - c) where a decision to cancel the candidate's endorsement occurs in circumstance where the candidate denies any allegation or suggestions in relation to his or her conduct, any public statement by the Party shall acknowledge this denial.

17 Standing Orders

Modification History

Action	Body	Date
Approved	State Council	2011-02-26
Amended	State Council	2011-12-10
Amended	State Council	2012-06-23

Note: excerpts or descriptions of the State Constitution are shaded in grey and are for reference only; such references do not themselves constitute Standing Orders.

Purpose

1. The Standing Orders, along with the State Constitution, are the principal source of procedural authority for meetings of State Council. All meetings of State Council are to be conducted within the framework provided by these Standing Orders. Adherence to these Standing Orders is required for the proper conduct of State Council meetings.

Application

2. These Standing Orders are rules of State Council made by State Council. They are of continuing effect and apply until changed by State Council.
3. Amendments to Standing Orders will be in the form of Proposals, not procedural questions (see Standing Orders: Proposals).
 - a) Subject to the Constitution, any of these Standing Orders may be suspended in respect of any particular matter, either:
 - b) by the facilitator if there is no dissent; or
 - c) by a procedural question (see Standing Order 42g).
4. The facilitator is responsible for ruling whenever any question arises as to the interpretation or application of a Standing Order and for deciding cases not otherwise provided for. The facilitator will generally be lenient when making rulings that have implications on new State Councillors.

Quorum

36.5 A quorum for a State Council meeting will be the next integer greater than one third the number of voting members of the State Council for the time being.

5. No decision of State Council is valid unless the facilitator has declared that the meeting is quorate.
6. The facilitator will determine whether State Council is quorate at the beginning of every meeting.
7. State Council is deemed to be inquorate until such time as the facilitator declares quorum. State Council is then deemed to be quorate until the meeting is closed by the facilitator, notwithstanding Standing Order 8.
8. When any State Councillor draws the attention of the facilitator to a possible lack of quorum at any time during a meeting, the facilitator will count State Councillors present to determine whether or not the meeting is still quorate.

Agenda

The agenda is set by the State Secretary in line with the State Constitution and by-laws.

9. The agenda will specify the order and substance of matters for reporting or for debate.
10. The agenda will include the full text of any and all Proposals.
11. The agenda will include the words “For report only” at agenda items where it is proposed that no discussion be entered into.
12. The agenda will specify that the beginning of each meeting will, before any substantive matters are discussed, include:
 - a) an acknowledgement of traditional landowners;
 - b) a determination by the facilitator of whether or not the meeting is quorate (see Standing Orders: Quorum);
 - c) a report of State Councillors absent with apologies; and
 - d) the Proposal “that the proposed agenda and facilitators be agreed to”. To this Proposal, State Councillors may propose amendments to:
 - i. select different facilitators for any particular agenda item;
 - ii. add agenda items;
 - iii. add or delete the words “For report only” as appropriate to any part of the agenda; or
 - iv. propose a variation to the time allocation;
 - e) a moment where the facilitator will ask State Councillors present to declare any conflict they may have or be perceived to have in relation to any scheduled agenda item.

Discussion

13. The facilitator will allow discussion at any point in the agenda where the words “For report only” do not appear, notwithstanding Standing Order 14.
14. The facilitator will close discussion when the time allotted for the agenda item has expired. An extension of time will only be permitted if a procedural question is agreed to (see Standing Order 42-j).
15. The facilitator will close discussion if State Councillors are seeking to discuss matters at a point where the words “For report only” appear in the agenda. An agreement to open discussion will only be permitted if a procedural question is agreed to (see Standing Order 42-k).

Conduct

Right of speech

16. The facilitator will have the right to speak at any time.
17. A State Councillor wishing to speak must raise their hand and be recognised by the facilitator before speaking.
18. State Councillors should refrain from seeking recognition to speak during times that the facilitator has not opened discussion unless there is good reason to do so.
19. If two or more State Councillors seek recognition to speak, the facilitator will keep a list and recognise State Councillors in the order in which recognition was sought. The facilitator will be flexible with the order of recognition of speakers (for example, in the interests of affirmative action).
20. State Councillors may not be interrupted by any other State Councillor, with the exception of the facilitator, unless:

- a) raising a point of order (Standing Order 25);
- b) raising a procedural question (Standing Order 37); or
- c) drawing the attention of the facilitator to a possible lack of quorum (Standing Order 8).

Order

21. State Councillors will at all times during meetings adhere to the Meeting Code of Conduct bylaw.
22. State Councillors will respect the authority of the facilitator to facilitate debates and maintain order.
23. State Councillors will be seated during meetings.
24. State Councillors will adhere to requests from the facilitator for silence at any point during the meeting.

Point of order

25. A point of order may be raised with the facilitator by any State Councillor at any time if the State Councillor believes the standing orders are being breached. After the point of order has been raised with the facilitator, debate on all other matters will be suspended until the facilitator has addressed the matter.
26. If the facilitator deems the frequency or substance of points of order from any one State Councillor to be deliberately vexatious, that State Councillor must abide by any request of the facilitator to cease raising points of order for a period of time stated by the facilitator.

Suspension of State Councillor

27. A decision to require a State Councillor to leave the meeting room for any period of time will be treated as a procedural question (Standing Order 42-n). The facilitator will not require any State Councillor to leave the meeting room without such agreement of State Council.

Decision-making Process

28. Every proposed decision of State Council will:
 - a) begin with the word “that”;
 - b) be recorded in the minutes; and
 - c) have the outcome of the question recorded in the minutes in line with the constitution.
29. For the purposes of the Standing Orders, all proposed decisions before State Council will be classified in one of two ways:
 - a) Proposals (i.e. proposals relating to substantive matters – see below); or as
 - b) procedural questions (i.e. proposals relating to procedure – see below).

Proposals

30. Proposals are important questions of substance (not procedure) to which the principles of consensus decision-making will be fully applied.
31. Proposals will only be considered if:
 - a) they appear in the agenda; or
 - b) a procedural question to allow consideration is agreed to (Standing Order 42-i); or
 - c) a workshop held earlier during the meeting has constructed a Proposal that is directly relevant to the agenda item.
32. Proposals will be written and numbered before being considered. Numbering of Proposals begins at 1 at the beginning of each new agenda item.

33. Amendments to Proposals:
- a) will, if longer than ten words, be written;
 - b) will be determined by consensus or, if required, by straw poll (50% +1 required to carry);
 - c) if an amendment is accepted, the original Proposal as amended, becomes the substantive Proposal, otherwise the original Proposal stands;
 - d) amendments to amendments (other than grammatical improvements) will not be permitted
 - e) concurrent consideration of two or more amendments will not be permitted;
 - f) further amendments, if any, will be dealt with sequentially as above. When all amendments raised have been determined, the substantive Proposal (as amended or not) is put for determination by the meeting according to normal decision making procedures.
34. Proposals with budgetary implications must indicate where changes to income and/or expenditure would need to be made in order to balance the current budget.
35. Proposals will be minuted consistently as follows:
- a) If a Proposal is dealt with in the usual way:
 - i. PROPOSAL [number]: that [text of proposal in full].
 - ii. PROPOSAL [number] [not] agreed to.
 - b) If a Proposal lapses (see Standing Order 42-e):
 - i. PROPOSAL [number]: that [text of proposal in full].
 - ii. A procedural question, "that the proposal lapse", was agreed to.
 - iii. PROPOSAL [number] lapsed.
 - c) If a Proposal is deferred (Standing Orders 42-b and 42-c):
 - i. PROPOSAL [number]: that [text of proposal in full].
 - ii. A procedural question, "that the Proposal be considered at [a later time this day / the next meeting]", was agreed to.
 - iii. PROPOSAL [number] deferred.
 - d) If a Proposal is put to a vote as required by a procedural question being agreed to (Standing Order 42-g):
 - i. PROPOSAL [number]: that [text of proposal in full].
 - ii. PROPOSAL [number] not agreed to.
 - iii. A procedural question "that the proposal be put to a vote" was agreed to.
 - iv. PROPOSAL [number] was put to a vote and was [not] agreed to ([number] Ayes; [number] Noes; [number] Abstentions).

47.6 A substantive motion carried by vote, unless provided for elsewhere in the State Constitution, requires at least a 75 per cent majority of votes cast. Abstentions may be recorded but will not count as a vote, either for or against

Procedural questions

36. Procedural questions are administrative in nature and must be dealt with immediately without discussion once raised.
37. Procedural questions may be raised by any State Councillor at any time.
38. In addition to the provisions of Standing Order 42-p, if the facilitator deems the frequency or substance of procedural questions from any one State Councillor to be deliberately vexatious, that State Councillor must abide by any request of the facilitator to cease raising procedural questions for a period of time stated by the facilitator.

39. Procedural questions will take precedence over Proposals.
40. Procedural questions will be stated verbally when put to State Council for decision.
41. Once a procedural question is raised by a State Councillor, the facilitator must immediately deal with the procedural question in the following manner:
 - a) the facilitator will, as soon as the procedural question has been asked, ask State Councillors if there is any dissent to the procedural question being agreed to;
 - b) if there is no dissent, the procedural question is agreed to;
 - c) or, if there is dissent, the facilitator must immediately, without allowing discussion on the matter, ask for a show of hands of State Councillors. A simple majority of State Councillors present is required for the procedural question to be agreed to, with the exception of the procedural questions at 42g and 42q, which require a 75% super majority for the procedural question to be agreed to.
42. Procedural questions will only take the form of one of the following seventeen phrases or of those referred to in Schedule A of these Standing Orders:
 - a) “that time for discussion on the Proposal now expire”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to require the facilitator to immediately test for consensus on the Proposal, that is, to end any discussion immediately.
 - ii. It should not be used in an attempt to silence dissent, and generally should only be used if the time allotted to debate is nearing its end.
 - b) “that the Proposal be considered at a later time this day”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to require the State Secretary to schedule time later in the day for further consideration of the Proposal at hand.
 - c) “that the Proposal be considered at the next meeting”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to require the State Secretary to include the Proposal, in its exact form, on the agenda for the next State Council meeting.
 - d) “that the matter be considered at the next meeting”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to require the State Secretary to schedule time on the agenda for the next State Council meeting for debate on the substantive matter at hand, but allows flexibility for the redrafting of any Proposals.
 - e) “that the Proposal lapse”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to defeat, rather than defer, a Proposal, without first testing for consensus. It should only be put if it has become apparent that a decision on the matter is not required.
 - f) “that Proposal [number] be now considered”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to consider a Proposal in a different order to that stated on the agenda.
 - g) “that the Proposal be put to a vote”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to put the Proposal at hand to a vote, for the reasons stated in the State Constitution; that is, that “if, after a reasonable period of time, disagreement persists and a decision cannot be deferred, the question will be resolved by vote.”

47.4: Except where this State Constitution requires a decision to be made by consensus only, if, after a reasonable period of time, disagreement persists and a decision cannot be deferred, the question will be resolved by vote. A procedural question to this effect will be deemed to have been carried if it is supported by at least a 75 per cent majority.

- h) “that the names and votes of State Councillors voting under Standing Order 42-g be recorded”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is for the names of those State Councillors voting for, against, or abstaining from the previous Proposal, to be recorded in the minutes.
 - ii. The procedural question must be put within five minutes of the facilitator declaring the outcome of the Proposal in question.
 - iii. In the event that the list of names by vote type contradicts the total recorded in the minutes, the totals will be amended to reflect the list.
- i) “that a Proposal regarding [very short description of substance of proposal] be considered”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is for State Council to consider a Proposal that did not appear on the agenda.
- j) “that consideration of this agenda item be extended for [number] minutes”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to extend time for discussion beyond the time allowed for in the agenda.
- k) “that the words ‘For report only’ be removed from the agenda”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to open discussion at a time when the agenda does not allow for open discussion (see Standing Orders: Discussion).
 - ii. In all but the most important of cases, State Councillors should only seek to have the words “For report only” removed from parts of the agenda under the provisions of Standing Order 12-d.
- l) “that the ruling of the facilitator be overturned”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to overturn the facilitator’s most recent ruling on a procedural matter.
 - ii. It must only be raised in the most serious of cases.
- m) “that the facilitator step down”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to require the facilitator to step down, and for the State Convenor to choose another facilitator (see Standing Order 48).
 - ii. It must only be raised in the most serious of cases.
- n) “that [Name] leave the meeting room for [number] minutes”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to suspend a State Councillor from the meeting room for a set period of time.
 - ii. It must only be raised in the most serious of cases.
- o) “that [Name] cease raising procedural questions”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to disallow any one State Councillor from raising procedural questions for the rest of the meeting.
 - ii. It must only be raised in the most serious of cases.
- p) “that [Name/s] not consider Proposal [number] due to perceived conflict”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to disallow any State Councillor/s from blocking consensus on, or voting on, any specific Proposal.
 - ii. It must only be raised in the most serious of cases.

- q) “that the standing orders be suspended for [number] minutes to allow for [details of matter]”
 - i. The effect of this procedural question being agreed is to suspend the standing orders for a determined amount of time.
- 43. Procedural questions will be minuted consistently as follows:
 - a) A procedural question, “that [text of question]”, was [not] agreed to.
- 44. Unlike for the recording of the outcomes of Proposals, if procedural questions are put to a vote by show of hands under Standing Order 41-c, votes, including abstentions, are not recorded in the minutes.

Facilitator

- 45. Minimal discussion on substantive matters will be entered into by the meeting facilitator.
- 46. The facilitator will be the State Convenor, or appointee of the State Convenor.
- 47. The name of the facilitator for any and all parts of any State Council meeting will appear in the agenda.
- 48. State Council may change the choice of facilitator by:
 - a) using the opportunity at the beginning of any meeting in accordance with Standing Order 12-d to change the facilitator; or
 - b) requiring the facilitator to stand down at any time in accordance with Standing Order 42-m, at which point the State Convenor will appoint a new facilitator.

Schedule A to the Standing Orders

How State Council deals with Recommendations and Decisions of Standing Committees, and the organization of Items for Discussion.

Definitions

- 1. In this Schedule, Decisions and Recommendations of Standing Committees are deemed to be “On Notice” or “Urgent”.
 - a) For a Decision or Recommendation to be on notice, it must have been drawn to the attention of State Councillors 7 clear days prior to State Council.

Items listed for Approval or Formal Decision

- 2. The Executive or the State Secretary may in framing the Agenda for State Council, list a matter for “Discussion” or for “Formal Decision or Approval”.

Decisions of Standing Committees

- 3. All Decisions made by Standing Committees which are “on notice” shall not unless listed be the subject of any consideration by State Council unless formal objection is received from either:
 - a) Three members of state council (extending beyond the membership of one Branch) given in writing to the State Secretary and to the Convenor of the relevant Standing Committee at least 2 clear days prior to the meeting (e.g. Wednesday for a Saturday meeting), or
 - b) Ten members of state council given in writing to the State Secretary and to the Convenor of the relevant Standing Committee, if present, (and in any case the facilitator of the meeting) within 30 minutes of the commencement of the meeting; and stating the Decision to which objection is taken and briefly stating the grounds of objection. State Councillors must not object pro forma. The giving of this notice shall permit a procedural proposal to be put as follows by “That State Council considers proposals for the disallowance or amendment of the [identified] Decision of the [named] Standing Committee”. After allowing not less than one speaker in favour of the procedural proposal, it shall be put to a vote, and if carried, the Agenda of that meeting will be altered accordingly.

4. Where a decision of a Standing Committee has been omitted or abridged in part or whole, for reasons of confidentiality, any State Councillor may request that the full decision be made available to him or her, and then may move in respect of that Decision “That State Council considers proposals for the disallowance or amendment of the [identified] Decision of the [named] Standing Committee”.
5. Any Decisions of any Standing Committee which have been made but are not “on notice” must (unless confidential – see 4 above) either be read out to the State Council meeting or distributed early in the meeting in written form. In these circumstances the procedural resolution described above may be moved by any State Councillor during the meeting. (Note- this is a reason why as a general proposition Standing Committee meetings should be held at least 10 days before state council.)

Recommendations of Standing Committees

6. Those recommendations of standing committees which are on notice and which are listed “For Discussion” shall be included as normal agenda items.
7. All the recommendations of standing committees which are on notice and which are listed “For Formal Approval” shall be put to State Council as a single proposal in the following form, for which consensus shall be tested: “That all recommendations on notice of Standing Committees not listed for discussion, and listed only for formal approval, be approved”. This proposal, unless State council otherwise decides, shall be put to the meeting after at least one hour of the meeting has elapsed. The exception to this shall be where 3 State Councillors (not all being from one Branch) have requested in writing to the Secretary (with a copy to the Convenor of the relevant Standing Committee) at least 3 clear days prior to State Council that a particular recommendation be considered separately.
8. If consensus is not reached on the proposal described in 7 above (“That all recommendations on notice of Standing Committees not listed for discussion, and listed only for formal approval, be approved”) discussion will be adjourned forthwith, after the facilitator has determined which state councillors object to which recommendation(s), and the testing for consensus on the remaining Recommendations to which no objection is taken. It shall then be the responsibility of the State Secretary or Assistant State Secretary, the State Councillors and the Convenors (or if absent other members) of the relevant Standing Committee to discuss in respect of each objection:
 - a) Whether there is an amendment which does not alter the character of the proposal but which can meet the objection, and that consensus be sought on that revised version of the recommendation, and if consensus is not reached, whether it should be dealt with under b. or c. below.; or
 - b) Whether it should be referred back to the Standing Committee for further consideration;
 - c) Whether the item needs to be listed for discussion, and if so at the present meeting or at a later meeting.

It is the responsibility of the State Secretary or Assistant Secretary (as the case may be) to bring back to the meeting a procedural proposal for a course of action in respect of each Recommendation, consistent with a) to c) above.

Recommendations which do not meet the definition of on notice (7 clear days) must either be listed for discussion, or deferred to the next meeting.

Items for Discussion

9. As far as reasonably practicable items listed for Discussion should be dealt with as follows should fall into two categories:

a) Those listed for short discussion:

Generally these items should be very limited in number, and limited to 10 minutes duration and should either be uncontroversial (e.g. a motion of thanks, which it would be inappropriate to put through without consideration) or necessary (e.g. because the information on which a recommendation could be based could only be available at the last minute, such as legal advice or a cost-quote, but where the matter was otherwise uncontroversial).

b) Items listed for full discussion:

There should generally be no more than 3 or 4 of these. These should be given a minimum of one hour each on the Agenda, or a workshop plus at least half an hour.

Items listed for major discussion should as far as practicable be advised to Branches and Regions (and all State Councillors) at least 33 Days prior to State Council, with an email to the Branches and regions to advise the name of the Agenda Item and the issue which is to be discussed, and as far as practicable, a brief summary of the history of the matter and the contending views. Only in unusual circumstances should a matter be listed for major discussion where there were no serious and contending views. As far as practicable, where there are contending views, any proposals which those holding those contending views would like to see adopted, should be circulated well in advance, and links to relevant articles etc., should be made available.

(Note: A feature which will often distinguish major discussion items is that State Councillors will come with an issue to be resolve, not a proposal to be discussed. However, for some types of major discussion items – those which are particularly complex such as budgets – a proposal should form the basis for discussion. On the other hand, some major discussion items will be productive and successful notwithstanding that no decision is ultimately made at the meeting.)

It is the particular responsibility of State Councillors representing Branches to report before the meeting on what the issues are which are listed for major discussion, and on the outcomes of these discussions.

Executive recommendations

10. For the purposes of this Schedule, recommendations from the State Executive are to be treated in the same manner as recommendations from a Standing Committee. [Note: This is by way of distinction from Decisions of the Executive, which require ratification.]

Urgency

11. The inclusion on the Agenda of a matter during the meeting requires the leave of the meeting (consensus) or a procedural motion being carried that the matter is urgent. For such a motion to be carried, it must be supported by a number of state councillors equal to half of all the State Councillors who have attended on that day, or two-thirds of those present and voting (for or against).

20 General Operations of Standing Committees

Modification History

Action	Body	Date
Approved	State Council	2012-06-23
Amended	State Council	2015-03-28

Scope

1. This by-law elaborates the functions, powers and composition of the Electoral and Continuous Campaigning Committee (which shall be known as the Campaign Committee) and the Policy Steering Committee (which shall be known as the Policy Committee), the Finance, Administration and Infrastructure Committee and the Education, Planning and Internal Communications Committee.

Matters Relating to All Standing Committees

Delegation of Powers in specific matter

2. In addition to any specific power granted to any Standing Committee by the Constitution and this by-law, State Council or State Executive can, subject to such conditions as it thinks fit, delegate the making of any decision on a specifically defined matter within its power, to any Standing Committee or to two or more committees in which case the decision will require the agreement of each committee concerned. Such a decision is not considered merely procedural (i.e. it cannot be done merely by simple majority). State Council or State Executive, and specifically the facilitator at the time such delegation is made, must ensure that the delegation is clearly defined and that the limits of the delegation are clear. The terms of reference of each Standing Committee are deemed to include the delegation described in this section, but to avoid doubt, no delegation can be taken as including any power to change any By-law, and any such specific delegation (i.e. not included in the terms of reference) only operates for a specific period which must be defined in the delegation. Such a delegation may be made subject to such direction or condition as is specified.

State Executive not to direct Committees but may stay decisions

3. State Executive cannot direct any Standing Committee to make any particular decision and cannot direct its work (AGV Constitution Clause 46.8). However, State Executive may request a Standing Committee to review a decision, and may determine to put a stay on any decision of any Standing Committee, or part of a decision, pending the next State Council, or for such shorter time as it determines. In addition, wherever it appears to an Office Bearer or to the Convenor of a Standing Committee that two or more Standing Committees have made inconsistent decisions, or that a Standing Committee has acted outside its power the Executive may resolve the matter by making its own decision (except where this would involve the Executive making Policy), or otherwise acting beyond its powers (AGV Constitution Clause 46.5).

Recording, Distribution and Clarity of Decisions of Standing Committees

4. In addition to any minutes of meetings (and separate from them), each Standing Committee must produce a "Record of Decisions Taken" which, in accordance with such procedures as the State Secretary determines, must;
 - a) include the date of the meeting and the substantive decisions taken or recommendations made at the meeting, but not merely formal or procedural decisions – e.g. thanking someone, approval of minutes, altering agendas etc.;

- b) be in a form which could reasonably be understood by a new member of State Council unfamiliar with the subject matter, and where necessary and appropriate include documents upon which the decision is based.
 - c) be posted to a secure website, and drawn to the attention of State Councillors as soon as possible, (usually at the end of the meeting) but in any case within 5 days of the meeting of which they are a record.
 - d) include in respect of each decision, as part of and at the commencement of each decision, one of the following forms of words: “Decision”, “Recommendation to [State Council, state executive or other named body]”, or “Draft decision”, or “Draft Recommendation to [State Council, state executive or other named body]”
 - e) Include the date of the next meeting of the Committee.
5. At the discretion of the Convenor of a Standing Committee (or the meeting itself) certain decisions or recommendations or parts thereof (e.g. names) may be excluded from the Record of Decisions Taken. Where this occurs, this must be noted in the record, with an appropriate statement to identify the type of matter deleted (e.g. “name deleted” or “decision re a staff performance matter”).
 6. Upon receiving an enquiry from any State Councillor, the Convenor must either advise of the contents of the unexpurgated record, or report the refusal to the next State Council.

Recommendations, Draft Decisions and Objections to Decisions

7. Wherever it considers it appropriate and practicable, (usually where there is to be another meeting of the Committee before a final decision or recommendation has to be made, or where there is no element of urgency), a Standing Committee shall record a “Draft Decision” or “Draft Recommendation”, which will be subject to confirmation or variation at the next meeting. The purpose of this is to indicate that State Councillors or other Party members who object to the decision or who want to otherwise have input into a final decision should contact the Committee or attend the next meeting of the Committee. The Committee should have particular regard to such objection or input where a proposed new form of words is proposed in substitution for the draft decision or recommendation, and in this case consensus should where possible be sought between the objector and the Committee.

Decision-Making – Recommendations can be made by simple majority only after consensus is sought

8. It is deemed that for the purpose a Section 48.5 of the Constitution (which allows that the standing orders can define what is a procedural resolution), a Recommendation or Draft Recommendation or Draft Decision of a Standing Committee, being a decision which has no operation or effect until it is approved by some other body or further affirmed, is a procedural resolution, and requires only a simple majority. Despite this, the facilitator and each member of a Standing Committee has a duty to ensure that there is appropriate discussion, and an attempt to reach consensus before such a recommendation or draft decision is adopted.

When a Standing Committee is to make a decision and when it is to make a recommendation

9. It is the intention of State Council that wherever the State Council has delegated to a Standing Committee under this by-law or otherwise, the power to make a decision (as opposed to State Council merely delegating a power to make a recommendation), then in the normal course of events it is expected that the Standing Committee will make decisions about these matters and will not merely make recommendations. Therefore, there should be unusual circumstances why a Standing Committee only makes a recommendation where it could make a decision. Such circumstances might include the importance of the matter in the particular context, or the level of controversy about the matter in the Party.
10. It is the intention of State Council that wherever the State Council has delegated to a Standing Committee under its terms of reference, the power to make a recommendation, then in the normal course of events it is expected that the Standing Committee will make recommendations which do not require a further decision of the State Council, other than mere approval of the recommendation

11. If Standing Committee is of the view that an issue should be an item for discussion at State Council, this does not of itself mean it should fail to make a substantive recommendation, but the Committee may request the Secretary that the item be listed for discussion.

Quorum and QDMG

12. The provisions of 13 and 17 do not apply to the National Affairs Committee
13. The quorum for a meeting of a Standing Committee shall be at least half of its members. However quorum for the Finance Administration Infrastructure and Staffing Committee must also include any of the State Secretary, the State Assistant Secretary or the State Treasurer.
14. Each Standing Committee shall appoint a Quick Decision Making Group, which must have four members and must include at least one of the office bearers (or if no office bearer is a member of the Committee, at least one member of the State Executive). A decision by a QDMG must be supported by at least 3 members and must not be opposed by any member of the QDMG, and must be ratified in the minutes and Record of Decisions at the next meeting.

Election of General members of Standing Committees

15. General members of Standing Committees shall be elected by members of State Conference. An election shall first be held in which only members of State Council, or members who have been a member of State Council during the previous 18 months or a previous State Office Bearers elected in a postal ballot, or members seeking re-election as a member of a Standing Committee may nominate. At the end of that election, nominations shall then be opened for any vacancies remaining, and in this election, any member of the Party may nominate.
16. Any casual vacancy on a Standing Committee shall be filled by State Council at its next meeting, by election from among the members of the Party, provided that State Council may delegate the filling of such vacancy to the Executive if insufficient nominations are received.

Removal of General members of Standing Committees

17. A member of a Standing Committee (other than a person who holds that position by virtue of holding another office, but including any Policy Sub-Committee) may resign in writing to the Convenor of the Standing Committee or to the State Secretary.
18. Wherever a member of a Standing Committee (other than a person who holds that position by virtue of holding another office):
 - a) fails to attend two consecutive meetings without apology (excluding exceptional circumstances or with apology); or
 - b) appears to be unable or unwilling to contribute to the work of the Committee;

The Convenor of the Committee will contact that member to discuss their continued membership of the Committee. Should the member not resign and should the Convenor after that discussion not be satisfied about the continued involvement of that member, the Convenor of the Committee will, as he or she considers appropriate, recommend to the State Executive in writing (with a copy to the member) that the member's position be declared vacant, and the State Executive may upon this recommendation remove the member from the Standing Committee, provided the member has been afforded an opportunity to be heard.

19. Under no other circumstances and for no other reason shall the State Executive have the power to remove a member of a Standing Committee, but State Council may do so at its discretion provided an opportunity has been afforded to the Standing Committee member to be heard prior to any such decision being made.

 - c) The Campaign Management Group is responsible to the Campaign Committee in full session for making day-to decisions about the content of campaigns and the allocation of resources under the control of the Campaign Committee. It would be convened by the Campaign Committee Convenor whenever the need arises, and it would be expected to meet at least several times each week during an election campaign period. - A sub-panel may only make this finding by consensus. Should consensus not be achieved the nomination will be considered by the full Probity Panel, at which a majority will be required to make the finding.

31 Standing Electorate Campaign Committees

Modification History

Action	Body	Date
Endorsed	State Council	2016-01-30

Scope and purpose

- 1) This bylaw gives effect to clause 55.5 of the Constitution.

Jurisdiction and Review of Standing Electorate Campaign Committees

- 2) The State Executive will appoint a person or establish a committee prior to 31 January in each year, which will be responsible for drafting a proposal (the draft report) to determine the number and jurisdiction of standing electorate campaign committees in accordance with this bylaw. The person or committee may be the same as that appointed under clause 14.1 of the Constitution.
- 3) The person or committee will receive all necessary support from AGV constituent groups, to enable that person or committee to present the draft report to the State Executive by 30 April in each year.
- 4) The person or committee will, by 14 April, set out as part of the draft report:
 - a) Each Victorian Legislative Assembly and House of Representatives lower house electorate with its newest boundaries (i.e. current boundaries or boundaries gazetted which will take effect at the next general election, whichever are newer), and whether each electorate will or will not be governed by a standing electorate campaign committee. In doing so, the person or committee will set out in the case of each electorate:
 - i) Whether it does not fall wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of a Branch, and therefore clause 55.4 (b) of the Constitution applies; or
 - ii) Whether it falls wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of a Branch, and therefore clause 55.4 (a) of the Constitution applies, and:
 - (1) It is an electorate where on the best information available the person or committee appointed under clause 2 above understands that all Branches in existence with coverage of that electorate have decided that there should not be a standing electorate campaign committee, including past decisions which have not been superseded, in which case there will be no standing electorate campaign committee; or
 - (2) All circumstances other than described in sub clause (1) above, in which case there will be a standing electorate campaign committee.
 - b) Key information about each standing electorate campaign committee. In doing so, the person or committee will set out in the case of each standing electorate campaign committee:
 - i) Its name (which will usually take the form “[Electorate/s] State ECC” or “[Electorate/s] Federal ECC”);
 - ii) The electorate/s it covers (a committee can cover up to 3 State electorates or up to 2 Federal electorates (but not a combination of State and Federal electorates) if on the best information available the Branches in the relevant areas wish it to be the case, or if the pre-existing structure has allowed for it, otherwise there will be one committee per electorate. Where there is an incumbent Greens MP or by a decision of State Council including through the adoption of a campaign strategy identifying priority or winnable electorates, there will be one committee per electorate);

- iii) Based on the report provided to the State Executive under clause 14.5 of the Constitution, the number of representatives each Branch is entitled to appoint as member of the committee, such that:
 - (1) If there is only one Branch which falls wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of the committee, that Branch shall be entitled to appoint 4 or 5 representatives;
 - (2) If there are two or three Branches which fall wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of the committee there will be six Branch representatives in total.
 - (3) If there are four or more Branches which fall wholly or partly within the jurisdiction of the committee there will be seven Branch representatives in total.
 - (4) The number of positions appointed by each Branch will be as closely as possible consistent with that Branch's proportion of the membership in the relevant electorate(s), provided that then, without increasing the number, any Branch without a representative will be allocated one. Where any Branch entitled to one representative has advised that it does not wish to appoint such a representative, the number of positions determined in this clause will not take into account such a Branch.
 - iv) Whether the committee is currently suspended under clause 55.9 of the Constitution and when the suspension is to be lifted, if known.
- 5) The person or committee will then:
- a) Forward the draft report to all Branches, existing standing electorate campaign committees and the Victorian Campaign Committee for comment, not less than 14 days before its scheduled consideration by the State Executive;
 - b) Consider comments on the draft report which are received not less than 7 days before the draft proposal's scheduled consideration by the State Executive, and any other comments as it chooses; and
 - c) Provide to the State Executive an updated draft report incorporating any amendments which are necessary due to the identification of any errors or due to new information being disclosed in relation to clauses 4(a) or 4(b). Other comments received which did not result in amendment/s will be attached to the updated draft report.
- 6) Upon receiving the updated draft report the State Executive will, by 30 April, either: endorse it; or amend it to reflect comments made, including those made by a Branch, existing standing electorate campaign committee or the Victorian Campaign Committee, or to correct any error.
- 7) Upon endorsing the report and by 7 May, the State Executive will release the endorsed draft report (the final report) to State Council members, Branches, existing standing electorate campaign committees and members of the Victorian Campaign Committee, and the findings of the final report will come into effect and be binding as at 1 July. If there is an objection to the decision made by the State Executive under this clause, the State Executive may refer a matter to the State Council if it considers appropriate, or may vary its own decision.
- 8) By 14 May, the most senior staff member or delegate will write to all office bearers of Branches and existing standing electorate campaign committees within the jurisdiction of each standing electorate campaign committee which will come into (or have continuing) effect as at 1 July and which is not suspended, setting out the name, jurisdiction, powers, responsibilities and membership structure of the committee, so as to ensure that Branches and existing standing electorate campaign committees are specifically aware of any changes to campaign structures and are reminded of Branch representative appointment entitlements.
